BRIGHT YOUNG THINGS

Bright Young Things is a Saturday morning club hosted in the stunning surroundings of Stowe School on Saturday mornings. It is designed to provide an opportunity for extra academic stretch and challenge for children in Years 3 to Year 6 (ages 8-11) who have been identified as highly talented academically. Those attending will have sessions with specialist teachers at Stowe, designed to engage and enhance their intellectual curiosity. This is an exciting and stimulating academic club where younger pupils will have the chance to work with other children of a very high academic calibre, from a range of schools and backgrounds, in a pressure-free environment.

Selection Process

Membership for the club will be by invitation only and recommendations will only be received through the Head of the pupil's current school. The typical profile for selection would be a pupil who displays excellent attitude and aptitude for learning and who has standardised cognitive ability testing scores of above 130. If you think your child may qualify and be interested in this opportunity, the first discussion should be with the Head teacher of your child's current school. Continued membership will be contingent on pupils maintaining a high level of engagement and regular attendance.

Cost

There are no costs involved, membership is free for those pupils invited!

Time and Location

Saturday mornings in term time, 10:00am to 12:00pm in the Alwyn Bolton Library, Cheung Music School, Stowe School.

Dress

There is no dress code, although pupils should be equipped for weather conditions, as there may be some movement between buildings or in the grounds for certain activities or projects.
