

The Dinner

By Nancy Wakelin aged 9 yrs

One beautiful summer day, the king and queen were arranging a dinner for them and lots of celebrities. On Wednesday, the king and queen sent out invitations to the celebrities. The celebrities who were coming were called Big Jake, Max Scepter, Freddy Plato, Raje Lank, Rock, Dance for the Queen.

On the night of the dinner a mysterious light appeared in the king and queen's bedroom. Now this light transformed into a fairy!!! This fairy said "Beware the dinner won't go as planned." Just as she said that she disappeared in a puff of glitter. On the day of the dinner, the king and queen were worried, for what the fairy told them. When all the celebrities arrived they all sat down and started to tuck into the delicious dinner. After dinner, they all had a party while each taking turns to sing. Meanwhile in the kitchen the chef was still cooking tiredly needing a day off. So he decided to talk to the king about the day off. The king said "You may not, you are my chef and I'm paying you every minute you work here." Tired and disappointed he went back to work. After that something went terribly wrong!!!

Everyone was working tirelessly even the celebrities were working hard. The king knew something was wrong and wired. So the king started to investigate the problem at hand. The king took in the queen to interrogate but it didn't go to plan, because the queen said "I'm busy thanks to you." Just as she said that the king had an idea that when the chef talked to him about a day off, the chef might have said something to make them work and work. So he decided to spy on his chef. While he was spying he heard something tremendous. "Well that was easy." said the chef. The king was astonished. He couldn't believe what he heard. At that very moment the King popped out and said "You should be very ashamed of yourself." The chef jumped of surprise. "How did you find out!!!" said the chef. "Well you came and talked about a day off and I said no then everyone started working and didn't stop so it was pretty obvious that you said something or you made me say something that made them work." said the king "I guess it was easy." said the chef "So please stop them from working." the king ordered. "No can do, you are the only one who can. All you have to say is....You have to answer this riddle for me to tell you the word." replied the chef. "Ok what the riddle then." said the King. "The riddle is... What goes in water and never gets wet." Said the chef. "The answer is shadow." Replied the King. "There you go all back to normal." replied the chef. And they all had a better and normal life.

The End.

And as for the chef well that's another story.