Celebrating Stowe: The Grosvenor House Art & Antiques Fair, 14-20 June 2007

The architectural wonders of Stowe have been the inspiration behind the epic transformation of The Grosvenor House Art & Antiques Fair, Britain's most prestigious art and antiques fair, which this year will undergo a spectacular redesign from leading UK interior designer, David Bentheim. The idea is to create a totally modern and minimalist environment to complement the fantastic diversity of works of art on display by taking a different country house or historic building each year as the 'brand' for the Fair.

Shades of Robert Adam, Vanbrugh, Gibbs, Kent and Soane will be evoked throughout the Fair, from the entrance on Park Lane to the superb elliptical ceiling in the Marble Saloon which will be produced as one huge ceiling within the Great Room. This massive screen-printed ceiling will be clearly visible from the aisles creating an intimacy as well as grandeur and clarifying the space.

Launching Stowe's New Website

As some of you will have already seen, our new website is now up and running. While the site still has all the familiar sections, you will see that it has an entirely new look and feel, and the majority of content has also been rewritten and re-organised. You will find new information and functionality in many of the areas – for parents, Old Stoics, Campaign supporters and House visitors.

Please do visit the site and let us know what you think. This is the first phase of the website's development, once this has settled and we have assessed the initial feedback we will be working on further enhancements to the site.

Happy searching!

Farewell to our Chairman

Stowe's Speech Day (26 May) was a day of mixed emotions as we said farewell to the Chairman of Governors, the Right Honourable the Lord Lyell of Markyate (Grafton 57), and welcomed Christopher Honeyman Brown (Grenville 66) as his successor. After Stowe and Christ Church, Oxford, Lord Lyell was called to the Bar in 1965 and elected MP for Hemel Hempstead in 1979 and then mid-Bedfordshire in 1983. He served as Solicitor General and Attorney General under Lady Thatcher and then John Major, winning the respect of all parties for his judicious and impartial advice. He has been a Governor of Stowe since 1991 and Chairman of the Governors since 2001. It would not be an exaggeration to say that Lord Lyell has presided over a period of greater change at Stowe than at any time since JF was Headmaster. He has championed the partnership with Stowe House Preservation Trust and the National Trust and supported the drive to raise academic standards while extending co-education across the whole School. The Headmaster paid a personal tribute to Lord Lyell's indefatigable efforts and wise counsel and wished Lord and Lady Lyell great happiness in retirement.

Hepworth to Hockney to Hirst

From the beginning of the Summer term we have been delighted to host a major exhibition of Art in the Marble Saloon by 30 highly renowned British artists, entitled 'Hepworth, to Hockney to Hirst'. The exhibition has been curated by Caroline Wiseman Modern and Contemporary Art and we are enormously grateful to her for the opportunity to display works of such stature in this magnificent setting. This represents a very significant educational venture to enable Stoicks to see such a range of artworks at first hand, until the exhibition closed on May 26, making a vibrant contribution not only to those studying Art at Stowe but to the cultural enrichment of the School as a whole. It is a very significant achievement for a school to be able to display these works in such a professional manner and the whole community has felt the excitement of enjoying these works at Stowe. It is, without doubt, the most important group exhibition of artists' work to be displayed at the School since it was founded.

During the year the exhibition will travel to other venues around the country, including the Aldeburgh Festival. It features the same 30 artists with a huge range of visual interest, from Francis Bacon, Lucian Freud, Grayson Perry, Henry Moore, Bridget Riley, Patrick Heron, John Hoyland and Tracey Emin to name but a few. A work by Victor Pasmore was also exhibited and we were especially pleased to see his son, professional photographer John Pasmore (Chatham 60) at the private view as well as the many others who attended.

Different photographic images from Stowe will be used in other areas throughout the Fair thus providing those who know Stowe with the opportunity to see the wonders of this magnificent building and its gardens reproduced in a completely new and unique setting. For instance a panoramic curve of images will lead visitors into the Fair, while translucent printed voiles of the fabulous panelling in the State Music Room at Stowe will be hung at intervals around the Balcony, creating impact and mystique.

At this year's Fair, which takes place from 14 to 20 June at Grosvenor House on London's Park Lane, 88 leading dealers will offer for sale a stunning array of jewellery, furniture, paintings, silver, textiles, glass, modern art, books and antiquities worth an estimated total of £500 million. Although some works of art cost millions of pounds, other pieces are on sale for as little as £200 and collectors, shoppers and those wanting to furnish their homes stylishly can all find something at this most celebrated art and antiques fair.

Another highlight of the Fair is the Charity Gala Evening, which will take place on Thursday 14 June. The benefiting charity this year is Coram, which has been working with deprived and disadvantaged children since 1739. The Grosvenor House Art & Antiques Fair, which has always attracted well-heeled visitors, has equally always been aware of the need to help those who are less privileged.

Grosvenor House has always been associated with great works of art. The building that once stood on the site of the present hotel in Park Lane, Mayfair was home to the Earls of Grosvenor from 1806 and their art collection, including Thomas Gainsborough's famous Blue Boy, hung in a specially constructed gallery. After the First World War the family sold the house and in the late 1920s it was replaced by what remains one of Britain's most iconic hotels.

In 1934, just five years after the hotel opened its doors with a glamorous party that would set the standard for years to come, the first Grosvenor House Art & Antiques Fair was held and to this day continues to attract leading collectors and buyers from around the globe. This year the Fair celebrates 70 years of royal patronage, since it was first granted by Queen Mary, a keen collector, in 1937. Her Royal Highness Princess Alexandra became the Fair's Patron in 2003, following the death of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth The Queen Mother.

Combining tradition with modernisation is a skilful task, particularly when dealing with an institution as revered and loved as The Grosvenor House Art & Antiques Fair. The glorious backdrop of the richness of Stowe's architecture will perfectly set off the new minimalist stand design, blending the past with the future and offering something very special to all who are associated with and know Stowe.

What PSHE is all about

At Stowe we take the welfare of our Stoics extremely seriously and as a complement to the excellent House-based pastoral care, there is a well-established and expanding programme of PSHE. For those unfamiliar with educational jargon, PSHE stands for Personal, Social and Health Education. Our programme at Stowe, organised by Peter Last who combines PSHE with his role as Head of Geography, is wide-ranging and information is delivered to Stoics using a very simple model. Every term each Year Group will consider a range of topics. Wherever possible, an expert in a particular field is invited to Stowe to deliver a presentation to Stoics. The following week, individual Tutors then pick up on the issues raised by the speaker using resources provided on the School's intranet.

Some of the topics that Stoics have considered during the Spring term include: the 3rd Form heard about the dangers of binge-drinking from a recovered alcoholic;

the 4th Form had a presentation on the importance of self-examination to identify testicular and breast cancers; the 5th Form received a visit from a representative of the organisation 'QUIT' who spoke about the dangers of smoking and the 6th Form had a presentation about the perils of sexual harassment.

The exact content of the programme is constantly updated by Mr Last and Tutors are always provided with sufficient information to enable them to follow-up on discussions in an informed manner.

As Stowe develops as a fully co-educational school, the issues tackled in PSHE will be very important in helping to establish an atmosphere in the School whereby important and sensitive issues can be addressed and discussed in a safe and supportive environment, thus enabling Stoics to make well-informed choices about how they live their lives whilst at School and beyond.

Business Studies team reach the Finals

In the prestigious national CIMA Management Competition our AS Business Studies team were pitted against some very strong competition and successfully beat hundreds of schools to make the finals. The team undertook extensive research on the national digital market and generated some innovative ideas for 'Butterfly Radio' their fictitious digital radio company. Taking on the role of consultants they investigated finance, marketing, external factors and human resources to make specific recommendations and explain their strategy for success. The final, consisting of four schools making their final pitch, will take place at the Heritage Motor Centre in Warwickshire on 29 June. Our team members are: Edmund Lee, Hugo Wiseman and Azu Nsirim.

Chess Challenge Success

The British Land UK Chess Challenge has around 2,150 competing schools. It is, however, an individual competition, not a team event. The first round is the School's own club competition and follows tournament rules. Our two qualifiers for the regional event, this year as last, were Natalie McDaid and Thea Dorenberg, currently in the Fifth Form (Natalie was one of the first two Lower School girls to enter Stowe). Our area Megafinal was held at Wycombe High School on Sunday 29 April. Six rounds of 40 minutes, with clocks, were played during the day.

Natalie won the tournament outright and Thea was runner-up, which means that they qualify for the next phase: the southern Gigafinal at Wellington College on the weekend of 7 July. Success in this tournament qualifies for entry to the Terafinal, which will produce the overall winner.

The girls have a track record of chess success for Stowe, and last year led Lyttelton House to a historic victory in the annual Inter-House Chess Tournament.

Steven Thompson, Master in Charge

Carbon Neutral Challenge

The Stern report, the recent publication in Paris by the Inter-Governmental Panel on Climate Change, news coverage and detailed documentaries about global warming all seem to be pointing to one conclusion: human activity, in particular the burning of fossil fuels and the generation of methane are now causing irrevocable damage to the earth's atmosphere.

This was the background for a timely visit to Stowe by Mr Mike Mason, who works for an organisation called Climate Care (www.climatecare.org). Climate Care is one of the world's leading carbon retailers. A visit to their website allows you to very quickly and easily calculate your carbon emissions and then, if you choose, to offset these emissions by making a payment to Climate Care. This money is then used to invest in a wide range of carbon-neutralising projects around the world.

One such project is using offset contributions to provide efficient wood-burning stoves in many LEDCs such as Lesotho. Each stove, because it is designed to burn wood more efficiently, saves 1.5 tonnes of CO<sub>2</sub> emissions per year and also reduces the amount of wood used in the stove by 50%, thus reducing the pressure on forestry resources.

Mike gave a very interesting and well-informed talk to all of our 6th Form geographers and members of the Geographical Society and was not slow to make the link between our individual lifestyle choices and the global problem of climate change. For example, leaving a TV or stereo on standby overnight because you are too lazy to get up and turn it off properly releases an amount of CO<sub>2</sub> that would fill 29 party balloons each and every day. Even boiling a kettle releases 3 balloons worth of CO<sub>2</sub>.

Mike's conclusion was an interesting one because he said that we are currently the wealthiest generation ever to have lived on the earth, we will be the wealthiest generation ever and the future will be determined by the decisions we make today. What car will we choose to drive? How many electrical gadgets will we choose to surround ourselves with? How energy efficient will we make our home and our school?

Clearly, these are challenging questions but the sense of urgency with which we must tackle them was very clearly expressed by Mike in his talk. The challenge is for each of us as individuals, for every household and even for Stowe. Hampton School, London has recently become the UK's first 'carbon neutral' school. Clearly, the nature of Stowe, with the huge mansion and ancient energy systems makes this a difficult challenge for the School, but don't we owe it to future generations of Stoics to at least give becoming carbon-neutral a very good shot?

Respecting difference, promoting understanding

On Commonwealth Day, celebrated this year on March 12, Stowe was represented by Adam Charlesworth, Balthazar Mattar, Mark Ioannou and Luke Rust accompanied by Mr Longworth. The Commonwealth is home to nearly a third of the world's population and is made up of 53 member countries, all being represented in the celebration held in Westminster Abbey. The theme this year was 'Respecting difference, promoting understanding', highlighting how the shared values, the principles and practices of everyday life in all the member countries have contributed to the success of the Commonwealth.

in spite of conflict and disaster. There were personal testimonies showing how each had been able to contribute to a better and safer society within the area in which they live. Working together had developed a sense of fairness, a real understanding of others' needs and aspirations and a willingness to give of oneself even in the face of real difficulties. The celebration included steel bands, choirs from around the world, traditional singers and dance groups. The day's schedule also included a flight on the London Eye. It was a beautiful day and it was great fun seeing so much of what London has

Stowe's Environmental Campaign

Reducing wastage is the prime aim of the Stowe Environmental Campaign. An establishment the size of Stowe uses a huge amount of power and water to say nothing of the teaching, feeding and residential resources. Inevitably there is wastage and we are urging all people connected with Stowe to be vigilant and proactive when it comes to reducing wastage.

Some simple things can be done by us all:

- Turn off the tap when you are brushing your teeth (taps run at approximately 5 litres per minute).
- Turn off music systems and computers off at the wall when they are not being used (some appliances still use nearly 50% of power when on standby mode).
- Get into recycling. Paper, plastic, glass and cans can all be recycled.
- Try and reduce the amount of paper used in printers and photocopies by only printing when absolutely necessary and trying to photocopy things on two sides where possible.

Stowe will be aiming to provide facilities and information for all these suggestions over the coming weeks but we need the support of all the people who use Stowe to help make our campaign successful.

The Staff and Stoics have been collecting mobile phones to be recycled. For each phone collected a tree will be planted as well as the phone either being sent to a less developed country or being disposed of safely. If you have an old mobile phone which you would like to get rid of please leave it at Reception c/o Dominic Mochan. At the time of going to press, after just one week, over 70 phones have been collected from staff and just two Houses.

This is one of a number of schemes which we hope will help reduce wastage in and around Stowe whilst also contributing towards a better environment.

If you would like any further information please contact Dominic Mochan: dmochan@stowe.co.uk to offer from a bird's eye view. The memorable trip ended with a visit to Pizza Express where the day came to a very satisfying conclusion.

Stowe Unblocksthe Drains at Rotary Club Design and Technology Tournament 2007

Stowe again took part in the Rotary Club Annual Schools Design and Technology Tournament in Aylesbury College on 27 February. The Tournament is like a mini version of Scrapheap Challenge, or the Great Egg Race. You have to design and make something to a brief given on the day, using materials provided, and then compete with other schools in a final public testing session. It tests skills in graphics, making and technology, as well as inventiveness. It is great fun. About 12 other schools from the area normally take part. The prize money is split between the school and the members of the winning team. There are generous prizes for 1st, 2nd and 3rd places in basic (yrs 7, 8 & 9), intermediate (yrs 10 and 11) or advanced (yrs 12 & 13) teams. This year's challenge was to design and build a means to clear stones from a length of PVC piping, using an electric motor, pulleys, small pieces of jelutong, rubber bands, drinking straws, card, paper and glue, using only simple hand tools. This was difficult because great precision was needed to minimise friction in the bearings and pulley systems.

Stowe's four teams of four put up a strong showing against the other schools. Pictured above, James Bell (Walpole), Ben Paton (Bruce), Elliot Matthews (Cobham) and Mark Goodenough (Bruce), won Second Prize for their skillfully made pipe runner in the intermediate section, each received a £15 gift voucher.

Prep School Art Exhibition

Open from 14 to 22 March, in many ways it was one of the most successful that we have put on during the last seven years that I have been at Stowe. The overall feel of the exhibition was superb, with a very consistent quality of work from all of the schools that participated. As ever, it was wonderful to see the sheer range and impressive quality of the artwork complement the marvellous setting of the Marble Saloon. I was delighted to see so many of the participating artists at the opening reception of the exhibition with their parents and, in some cases, grandparents too. We were also fortunate to have a gloriously sunny day. A number of the enthusiastic young artists took the opportunity to do some sketches of the grounds and monuments seen from the South Front portico.

Art goes to New York

New York is home to some of the best art museums in the world, and is now a regular feature in the calendar for Sixth Form art at Stowe. The Metropolitan Museum of Art was first on our list. This is known as one of the biggest and most comprehensive galleries in America, true to its reputation it contains items ranging from the Middle Ages to works examining Freudian psychology. One of the very interesting exhibitions held here was a series of German Portraits from the 1920's, entitled 'Glitter and Doom' which highlighted the changes of society in a post-war Germany. Our next museum was the Whitney Museum of American Art which contains one of the most contemporary collections in New York, a mixture of abstract impressionism and studies on the figure. Next came the Guggenheim, this building consists of a spiral from top to bottom, down which you walk to see the art on display. This unusual design looked amazing from inside and allowed us to easily view the works on display. The main exhibition was entitled 'Spanish painting: El Greco to Picasso', this included old age Vanitas and work from the Spanish civil war. It provided an interesting view into the traditional Spanish culture mixed in with more recent work. The Museum of Modern Art was the last museum we visited. Like the Whitney it contained an extremely contemporary catalogue of art. This included abstract films made by Bill Voila and works by Jackson Pollock, who is so highly praised by the Art Department.

Of course, you can't go to New York without shopping, and so at the end of our first day we ventured to 5th Avenue, whilst the last day was spent in SoHo enjoying all things American.

Dining out each night, we were treated to traditional tacos in a Mexican restaurant which also offered fried cactus (nicer than you'd expect). Japanese was next and although not everyone was pleased the candyfloss machine was a hit. Last but not least was the pizza restaurant which has not changed since the 50's, it served delicious stone baked pizzas.

Whilst working hard relating the visits to our studies, we did have a lot of fun. On behalf of all the Stoicks involved we would like to say a big thank you to all the teachers who gave us this opportunity: Mr Johnson, Miss Campbell, Mr Young and extra help from Mr Williams and his wife.

Hope Capurro, Nugent House

McElwee Trust – supporting travel scholarships

The Trustees of the McElwee Trust which annually awards travel scholarships to L6 Stoicks are pleased to announce this year's winners:

£1,200 to Sam Scott and Harry Farnsworth to study the Olympic sites in Greece.

£1,400 to Nellie English and Beth Georgiou to study Dutch paintings in Amsterdam and The Hague.

£1,100 to Daisy Page and Laura Henderson to study paintings in Rome and Florence.

The McElwee Travelling Scholarship was established in 1979 in memory of Bill and Patience McElwee. Bill had been History Tutor at Stowe for many years, but both had given much of their time, energy and attention to several generations of Stoicks who were fortunate enough to benefit greatly as a result. Travelling Scholarships are awarded to two or more Stoicks in their final year at Stowe, which enables them to travel anywhere in Europe during the summer holidays to study some aspect of European culture or history.

Since it was established 27 years ago, 155 Stoicks have set off in the summer to many varied destinations and experiences that they will never forget. The purpose and destination chosen should have a strong emphasis on culture and/or history within greater Europe (including Russia) or the Mediterranean Littoral. Some good examples of successful and interesting journeys made over the past twenty years are: Florence and the Renaissance, the Chateaux of the Loire, Santiago da Compostella, Minoan Crete, the Battlefields of the First World War, the Journey of Garibaldi, the Romans in Tunisia, William Kent and the Grand Tour, the Holocaust, Moorish Spain, and the European Guggenheim Museums.

Centenary celebrations of the birth of Bill McElwee are to be held at Brooks's, St James's, London on Thursday 13 September. A reception will be hosted by David Part (Old Stoic and Chairman of the McElwee Trustees) to honour the contributions of both Bill and Patience to the lives of so many Stoicks.

Congratulations to this year's winners who will present their accounts of their visits to the Trustees and the School in late September.

Temple Design Competition 2007

The distinguished board of judges, led by the American architect Rick Mather and Gerard Morgan-Grenville – one of the descendants of the original Stowe family – were much encouraged to note the wide range of designs which were submitted.

Although several entrants remained wedded to classical forms, a few broke away to develop an evolution of these or even to explore entirely new ideas. These last were of particular interest to the judges. There were interesting ideas expressed, some of which embraced the concept of symbolism, much employed with many of the Stowe temples. Some good models added greatly to the impact of the designs.

It would be a serendipitous event if a design from this Stowe competition were to be commissioned. Such is possible and those who intend to enter a subsequent competition would be well advised in the meanwhile to observe contemporary architectural forms and materials so that when the next opportunity occurs a well-considered idea may be presented.

Overall, it was a very worthwhile exercise, benefiting the Stoicks who took part and made them look at the landscape and the temples with fresh eyes. The judges found it hard to choose the winners as there were many entries with merit. Stoicks should not feel discouraged if they were not amongst the winners – there's always next time as this competition will be repeated.

The Prize Fund has been solely financed by the sale of 'No Ordinary Tourist,' a recently published account of the 1st Duke of Buckingham and Chandos' remarkable mediterranean travels 180 years ago. £5 for each copy sold was donated to the Prize Fund. A copy of the book is being sent to the winners and the runners-up.

Unsung Hero Award

The prestigious Ceremonial Council Meeting of Buckinghamshire County Council's Unsung Heroes of Buckinghamshire Presentation was held on Thursday 18 January, at the beautiful Stately House and Estate of Royal Air Force Halton HQ.

As Matron of Chandos House, I was immensely proud to attend this event to represent the School as 'one of my boys,' Craig Greene, was to be presented with the Unsung Hero Award. Upon arrival Craig, Mrs Greene and I were greeted by an impressive group of dignitaries which included the High Sheriff of Buckingham and HM Lord Lieutenant of Buckinghamshire. It was a very moving ceremony.

How proud I felt as I watched Craig receive his award. Stowe has been fortunate to have Craig as a pupil. He is an extraordinarily talented musician and an outstanding ambassador for the School. Following the ceremony we enjoyed drinks prior to luncheon. Craig chatted for some time with the High Sheriff of Buckingham, Mr Alexander Boswell, about his hopes and aspirations which include becoming a professional conductor in an Opera House. Craig has accepted a place at Christ Church College, Oxford and will also be studying part time with Dmitri Alexeev at the Royal College of Music. I look forward to following his future achievements.

Claire Hill Hall, Matron, Chandos House

Piano Trio win Ensembles Trophy

Congratulations to Stowe's Piano Trio, who won the Ensembles Trophy at the 2007 Banbury Young Musician of the Year Competition. Ten groups participated in the first round, and the trio of Augustus Perkins Ray (piano), Balthazar Mattar (violin) and Jacob Dennison (cello), were one of three groups invited to the final. The judges praised the winning Stowe Trio for their mature and lyrical interpretation of the slow movement of Mendelssohn's Piano Trio in D minor. The Piano Trio have been playing together since they joined Stowe as 3rd Form Music Scholars in September 2005, and are coached by Hilary Ford, Head of Keyboard. As Balthazar Mattar, violinist of the trio said, "It's really good we're all friends in the same year, as we can play together and get better as a trio." It has been a busy term for the Trio, as they and Stowe's Wind Quintet also participated in the South East Schools' Chamber Music Festival, held at Wycombe Abbey School. We look forward to the Trio's future concerts and successes.

same time holding the position of Organ Scholar and, latterly, Sub-Organist at Bradford Cathedral. He won the Hollingworth prize in his final year for an outstanding finals performance.

He has since performed at a wide range of venues throughout the country, including Salisbury Cathedral, St Paul's London, Westminster Abbey, Christ Church Priory, York Minster, Bath Abbey, Lincoln Cathedral and Windsor Castle. He has also played for public and private recordings, in addition to broadcasting live on BBC Radio 3, Radio 4, various regional stations and BBC1 TV. Jonathan was elected a Fellow of the Royal Society of Arts in 2005.

A2 Drama – Mountain Language

Mountain Language was a cold, stark and challenging piece of theatre. This short but deeply harrowing Harold Pinter play was presented by six A2 Drama and Theatre Studies pupils. This was no easy ride and audiences were left in no doubt of the play's message: torture is obscene, the domination of human beings by other human beings is obscene, and cruelty is obscene.

Cressida Bonas was utterly convincing as the young woman. Alina Nixdorf, as the elderly woman, had very little dialogue but her reactions and portrayal of the traumatised woman was quite superb. Stuart Stevens was nasty, brutal and totally believable as the Sergeant. Rory Brabant portayed the Commanding Officer with a seriously warped and deranged mind. George Coote as the Guard was threatening, intimidating and very scary! Nas Imam, the lifeless and damaged victim, gave a stunning performance and his intimate scene with Cressida when they are reunited was one of the highlights of the production. Technical support was given by King Ho Leung and Phil Pitcher, both regular stalwarts of the Theatre crew. Great credit must go to all those involved. Cruel theatre? Angry theatre? No, it was just great theatre!

Nick Bayley,
Head of Drama & Theatre Studies

From the Chairman

Since the last Column, we have now held the OS Society annual dinner on 10th May, for the first time at the British Academy of Film and Television Arts in London. The dinner was very well attended and it was particularly encouraging to see Old Stoics from the Roxburgh era to today's leavers attending in such numbers. Old Stoics were also well represented at Speech Day with OS teams playing the School at cricket, golf, tennis and clay pigeon shooting.

Forthcoming events for this year include a dinner for Old Stoics based in East Anglia to be held on 4th July at Magdalene College, Cambridge, and a reunion day at Stowe on 29th September concentrating on leavers from the years 1966 to 1975, albeit all Old Stoics will be welcome.

As you know, we are keen to expand business and other special interest groups of Old Stoics and I am delighted to confirm that OS Society committee member Simon Shneerson (Temple 72) has agreed to coordinate an OS Education Group, open to all Old Stoics who are involved with schools or universities in the UK or overseas. Whether you are on the academic side, in management and support, or a governor, we hope that you will join in. Please email John Bridgwood at the Old Stoic Office (oldstoic@stowe.co.uk) if you are interested.

Finally, many of you will be saddened to read on this page that Peter Rossiter recently passed away. Peter was a great supporter of Stowe for many years, as a Governor, Chairman and President of the OS Society, and Stowe parent of 4 sons. He will be greatly missed by the Stowe community.

John Arkwright (Cobham 69)

Peter Michael Rossiter (Cobham 50) 19 June 1932 – 10 March 2007

Peter was not easy to see in a crowded room but if you wanted to find him you just headed for the group laughing the most. Early on he was disruptive at school and aged 6 had a psychology report which read: 'Difficult child, easily distracted, but obviously bright'. Peter came to Stowe in 1945 – starting a 62 year love affair. He went into Cobham under the infamous DIB and Stowe under JF Roxburgh. He ended as Head of House, Second Prefect and Senior Under Officer in the CCF. He was beaten by DIB for keeping silk worms in the Temple of Concorde and Victory. His association with Stowe lasted until his death. He was twice Old Stoic Society Chairman, Old Stoic Society President, a Governor for 20 years, Chairman of Stowe House restoration appeal, and only stopped playing OS rugby when fed up of his own team mates calling him 'Sir'. He was a founder member of Stowe Lodge. His 4 sons were put down for Stowe before birth and followed him to Cobham (Nigel 1976-81, Bill 1978-83, Mike 1980-85, James 1982-87). He told his prospective wife, Barbara that: "If you marry me, you marry Stowe".

After Stowe, he won a scholarship to Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge – where studying modern and medieval languages he gained a double first. He went up in 1952, after National Service – following which he joined the TA for another 16 years.

His claim to fame at university being that he captained the unofficial Cambridge varsity punting team and was awarded 'a green' as it was not an official blues sport.

On coming down from Cambridge he started work in Birmingham with Dunlop – with whom he stayed working for 30 years. He greatly valued loyalty.

Peter and Barbara met in Birmingham. He put her to the test in a muddy rugby club car park - making her change into a bouffant dress for an evening party. As she did not complain he proposed and they married in September 1962. They had 4 sons and subsequently to his great delight he then gained 4 daughters-in-law, 11 grandsons (with his sons a full rugby team) and a granddaughter at either end. All the family, many friends and colleagues, called upon his colossal knowledge, organisational ability, reliability and loyalty. In 1976 the family moved to Arkley Lodge which remains the focal point for all.

On leaving Dunlop in 1986 and starting a new chapter in his life he acquired the majority share of a small engineering firm. This was a one man and his dog operation and after a high flying career in Dunlop he did everything in this company. From book-keeping to selling but also manufacturing – which he loved – until he was thrown off shop floor for quality control reasons. He formally handed over to his son, Bill, some time ago but was always there for him. The firm now has operations in UK and USA with over 60 employees between the two and won the Queen's Award for Industry in 2003.

In 1987 he suffered a massive heart attack, which would have killed most people. His wife, Barbara, constantly got at him to cut back his commitments – so successful was she at this that at his death he was down to a mere 19. On top of all this he became a magistrate. In this he came into his own. He was just. It was with some surprise that anyone ever got sentenced because it seems that most of his time was spent writing limericks for his fellow members on the bench.

Peter was a Freemason almost all his adult life and very actively involved. In Alcedo and Stowe Lodge he held every office in each, many times more than once, and could always be relied upon to 'stand in' to any role. He was invited to join Grand Lodge some time ago. Freemasonry provided for him – and him to it – ritual, order, an upright and just life and, of course, philanthropy. He was heavily involved with the synagogue, the Leo Baeck College, and, the Jewish Lads & Girls Brigade. He was also very active in keeping Barnet Hospital from going to Edgware and then getting it re-built – he must have known the use he would make of it in years to come.

All of these were done with the full support of Barbara without whom he would never have been able to achieve half. He was a connoisseur of plonk and the master of joke delivery - even when he knew he was dying he was joking with Barnet hospital staff in the lift up to the operating theatres right at the end. He died from a ruptured aortic aneurysm suddenly and unexpectedly.

The Rossiter family is holding a gathering for family and friends to celebrate Peter's life and long connection with Stowe. All Stowe friends are welcome to come with a picnic to the Queen's Temple, Stowe, on Saturday 23rd June between 12.00 and 5.00pm.

Lt. Col. Gordon Bowie (Temple 25) 29 April 1907 – 22 February 2007

Gordon Bowie was the final surviving member of the 'First 99', those founding Stoics who arrived at Stowe in May 1923 to be greeted by the first headmaster, JF Roxburgh. He came as a prefect to help JF run the School and his name is commemorated above the fireplace in the Temple Room as one of the first prefects.

On leaving Stowe Gordon Bowie went up to Magdalene College, Cambridge, to read mechanical science and engineering, before joining the Army to serve with the Gordon Highlanders. He was granted a regular commission in 1929 and posted to the 2nd Gurkhas (1st Bn). During a varied and distinguished Army career he saw active service in Imphal, Java and Burma, and was mentioned in despatches in 1944.

After the war, Gordon Bowie held a number of Army administrative posts before his retirement in 1956, following which he was employed by ICI in Billingham, Co Durham.

Colonel Bowie and his wife Nancy had three daughters and one of his grandsons, Andrew Hardie (Chandos 85), is an Old Stoic.

Old Stoic Cross Country versus the School

An excellent turn out of 11 Old Stoics (including, for the first time, 2 OS girls) on 17th March meant a competitive match against the Stowe team that also fielded 2 girls. The first runner home was Chris Hutber (Chandos 87), who posted the impressive time of 24:06 over the 5-mile course, closely followed by the OS Captain Simon Gardner (Temple 95). The overall result was a victory to the OS team by 34 points to 45, after which a nourishing match tea was enjoyed by runners and guests. Any Old Stoics (of all abilities and either sex!) who would like to run for the OS team can contact Simon on 07974 710792 or oldstoics.crosscountry@googlemail.com

50th Anniversary Lunch

Stowe has always been hospitable towards Old Stoics. In recent times the combined efforts of the School, Old Stoic Society and the Headmaster have been particularly ingenious in finding new ways to entertain us.

Last December it was the turn of those who had left Stowe 50 years ago to be invited back for lunch. Fortunately, there are still quite a good number of us around and on the day over 60 guests (including wives) met for drinks in the Marble Saloon.

There was enough time to wander round and look enquiringly at a face not seen for half a century and ask - could it be possibly? - and find that sure enough it was Old Deuteronomy.

There is not space to mention individual names, except perhaps for that of James Corbett, who, with his wife Pamela, had flown in all the way from Argentina. Although most had been back to Stowe over the years, one of whom had not especially enjoyed his time there was making his first visit since he had left. Happily to report, he felt completely reconciled by the end of the afternoon.

No masters of our vintage attended, but Mrs Biddy Stephan (formerly Mrs Walker) and Mrs Liz Zettl kindly came to recall our past triumphs and misdemeanours.

An excellent lunch followed in the Music Room. The Headmaster brought everyone up to date on Stowe's impressive progress: both as a school and as a brilliantly restored historic building. Dr. Wallersteiner is an impressive man and clearly won the respect of his audience. This was in no way diminished by the rather sobering reflection that we had all packed our trunks for the last time before he was born.

A tour of the State Rooms followed, although commentary on the restoration tended to be interrupted by spontaneous reminiscences. A visit to the Library illustrated the urgent nature of the need for progress on the next stage: a green wire mesh hung beneath the handsome ceiling to catch debris falling from it.

Although no direct appeal for funds was made during the day (several of those present having already given generously), a number attending either added to their previous pledges or became donors for the first time. Despite the almost unbelievable achievements to date, a very great deal remains to be done. The increasing diversion of lottery funds to the Olympics means that the next phases are going to have to be funded primarily by private donors.

We all had a very pleasant and informative day, and the future of Stowe is clearly in excellent hands.

Sir Michael Ridley (Cobham 56)

Old Chandosian Dinner

On 1st February, a group of 30 Old Chandosians from the leaving years between 1979 and 1992, years during which John Dobinson was Housemaster, got together for dinner at Queen's Club in West Kensington. Jill Dobinson and Ian Small were also in attendance. It was a relatively informal and lively gathering and is likely to be repeated every few years, provided someone is willing to organise it. There was a good deal of friendly banter and leg-pulling and Richard Hopkinson-Woolley even got rewarded his house colours, at long last, for organising the event. John and Jill brought the full set of house photos and other bits and pieces from their days in Chandos. John spoke fondly of the years he had spent in Chandos and read a poem that Richard Green had composed for one of the House's Christmas parties. It mentioned every boy in the house by name.

Richard Hopkinson-Woolley (Chandos 87)

BAFTA HQ provides fresh new surroundings for the OS Society Annual Dinner

The weather tried hard to put us off, but the annual OS Society Dinner held at the new and exciting BAFTA Headquarters on Piccadilly attracted a capacity crowd. A large number of gentlemen turned out, perhaps lured by the pull of some long blonde Texan leg (Jerry Hall was due to be guest of honour), and were a little disappointed to see the replacement (if not quite the legs, probably a better speech), but this did not put a damper on what was an entertaining evening.

The new venue provided much more modern but intimate surroundings, along with good food and drink and an atmosphere to savour. The large flat screens around the dining room displayed images of Stowe looking as splendid as ever, and the many guests marvelled at the improvements that have been made. One thing that struck me this year was the many different age groups who had organised tables, from those who have left since the new millennium to those who had left midway through the last century, as well as the Old Stoic Property Club. There was definitely a larger proportion of the younger generations present and hopefully this will continue to be more the case in the coming years – it is a great excuse to catch up with old friends.

The speeches kept everyone entertained, with the Headmaster providing some amusing quotes from exam papers (not from Stoics, we hope) and the Guest Speaker, Lord Lyell, some interesting gynaecological advice. The only complaint I received was about having to stand outside in the rain to smoke, but with the new smoking ban in July perhaps this was good practice! The wine flowed and I know for a fact that there were some sore heads the next day – all in all it was a really excellent evening that I know the OS Society Committee will build on next year.

Rowing: Triple Success

This is the second competitive season for Stowe in this sport. Last year we were setting the foundations in place and developing the equipment base, which is so essential to this sport. A grant from the 'Rowing Foundation' and 'Sport England' has set us up with some very good boats which will see us through for the next year or two. This equipment is being shared with Northampton Rowing Club and their feeder schools from the state system.

This year we are taking the competition level more seriously and have made an excellent showing at many events. With wins at Northampton Head of the River, Cambridge Head and Birmingham Regatta being an excellent start and one which we could not really have expected at this early stage. Our Senior Quad and Double Sculls of Marcus Bennett, Conor Curtis, Jonathan Wale and Hugh Gallie have out performed most of the crews they have raced this year so far. Now that we are in Regatta season, we are meeting the 'big rowing schools' and clubs and are up against very serious competition. In the Ball Cup held at Eton Rowing Lake (the venue for rowing at the London Olympics 2012) we were narrowly beaten in both finals into second place and third in the 2X- and 4X- respectively. In the next few weeks we are competing in the National Junior Regatta at Nottingham and then we are preparing for the Fawley Cup at Henley Royal Regatta in July. As our crews are making quite an impression at regattas, we were noticed by Ted Bainbridge (OS, Walpole 68). Ted was part of the Swedish National Coaching Team for the 1992 Olympics. He has very kindly offered to help us with our preparations for Henley by using the facilities at Leander prior to the qualifiers.

Clay Pigeon Shooting – hitting the target

February was a tremendously successful month for the Clay Pigeon Shooting team. We played host to Warwick School on 7 February and triumphed over both their A and B teams by one clay each. Stowe took part in the Warwick Challenge on Saturday 24 February in a competition contested by 16 schools and won

Boys' Sports: Best ever hockey performance

The Lent term saw hockey take centre stage as our performance sport and Stowe enjoyed its most successful season for many years. The 1st XI, in particular, had a superb season winning all but one of its 12 regular fixtures. Notable victories came against Harrow, St Edwards, Oakham and Bloxham. Chris Price was outstanding in goal pulling off some miraculous saves to support his outfield players. Ben Smith won selection to the Midlands Division and with two more years still at school will push for International Honours. Success was not just the preserve of the Seniors. The 1st XI and the U16's both reached the Finals of the County Cup for the first time on record and our U14's got to the Semi-Finals of their equivalent competition. Unfortunately both Finals were lost to Sir William Borlase and RGS High Wycombe respectively, but significant progress has been made this season and with the new Astro to come on stream later this year all bodes well for hockey.

The Summer term sports have suffered the vagaries of the weather, however, in the cricket matches so far the 1st XI have got off to a flying start with 3 wins and a draw against Reading Blue Coats, Lord Williams's, Uppingham and Radley. This is the first time that Stowe has beaten Radley in 17 years with Jamie Hirst hitting 54 in a low scoring match.

Other notable knocks so far are Nick Allen's 90 against RBS and Rory Lyon's 5 wickets for 52 in the same match and his unbeaten 122 against Uppingham (scoring 100 before lunch). At the time of going to press, Stowe were through to the last 16 of the National Twenty/20.

In swimming, Stowe has beaten Oakham and Loughborough, finished 2nd in a 6 school gala at Harrow and came 6th out of 16 in the Otter Challenge Cup. Individual performances continue to excel with Sam Morris knocking 4 seconds off the 100m Individual Medley record, Jonathan Wale broke the U16 100m Breaststroke record and, astonishingly, James Blackham (3rd Form) broke the U15 Butterfly record 3 times in 3 consecutive days.

Tennis is having a winning season at Senior level so far this term with wins over MCS Oxford, Akeley Wood and Bloxham. A young side have had some tight matches and have just lost out in some titanic sets against Uppingham and Oundle.

In athletics, the Juniors have had team victories over Haileybury, Charterhouse and KES Birmingham with good individual performances from Balthazar Mattar and Dominic Noakes whilst there have been some excellent Senior displays from Rory Brabant, Tristan Hirst, Sam Hunter and Henry Corner.

Alan Hughes, Head of Boys' Games

emphatically. The winning margin was 16 clays (164/250) over a challenging course of eight stands. Warwick School scored 148/250 to finish runners-up. It is only the second time that Stowe has won the Warwick Challenge in eighteen years of the contest's existence. The last occasion was in 1995. An additional boost to this achievement came with the knowledge that Stowe is the first team to have beaten Warwick School on their own ground in over five years.

The Stowe high gun was Dominic Woods who shot an impressive 39/50. The winning team included:

Jack Peile (Captain), Dominic Woods, Nickolai Ugland, Edward Benson and Jamie Robson

George Ford, Master in Charge

Girls' Sports: Now Flourishing

Girls' games at Stowe continue to flourish despite the fact that we are still growing our numbers compared to our competitors. Strength comes from within, however, not just from the numbers competing in the sports arena and it has become apparent that Stowe Juniors do not expect to lose.

On the lacrosse field we have been fortunate to experience the coaching talent of Sarah Bach, a graduate from Stamford University and a US lacrosse player. Miss Bach has coached our Juniors through an almost faultless season with 9 wins and 1 loss, taking some large scalps on the way! Over 75 girls have represented Stowe in lacrosse this season and the future is exciting with, at long last, some of our home grown players moving up through the school teams. Four players were selected for County: Katie Kosciuczyk, Clare Jackson, Sophie Loyd and Cassidy Ugglia. Two players, Katie and Cassidy were selected for Midlands and East respectively.

Our Seniors represented Stowe on the first ever girls' tour abroad. We visited California and although the opposition was incredibly strong, we fought hard and finished with some excellent scores albeit only one victory out of five. We hope to return with our Juniors in 2008.

Hockey has grown from strength to strength with two Senior teams and one Junior. However, with the influx of more 3rd Form in September this will change to three Junior sides. The new Astro, planned for late 2007, will bring with it new fixtures and more practice time, moving girls' hockey into the same league as lacrosse which has always been the long-term plan. Again our Juniors have been the team of the season with emphatic victories over all but two of the schools played. Jose Brake and Zara Nicholls are currently attending county training sessions in Milton Keynes and they continue to benefit from the training given by Zak Jones on Monday nights.

In the Lent term we put out two Senior netball teams and, as the girls numbers grow with the development of co-education, we would expect netball to find a niche alongside hockey and lacrosse. The Lent term will remain the main netball term. The return of Mrs Jane Hamblett-Jahn (formerly in charge of netball at Stowe) in September, as the Housemistress of our new girls' House, will be a great boost for netball and girls' sport.

Tennis and swimming continue to be well represented by the girls and we have an exciting prospect for the future in Francesca Hutt (3rd Form) who has already smashed a number of school records in the pool. We have more girls than ever playing tennis with four Senior and three Junior teams competing in fixtures. Again the new Astro will allow us to play more matches both midweek and at weekends and the plan to enter the Bucks County Cup will be a first for girls' tennis.

Senior Captains for next season are:

Hockey ..... Pippa Russell

Lacrosse ..... Chloe Crisp

Swimming ..... Elle Horrocks

Netball ..... Sarah Hemsley

Thanks must go to all the girls' Captains for their leadership and support this year. They have all been excellent ambassadors for Stowe, both on and off the field.

The Campaign for Stowe – an update

Six months ago, we reported on the early response to our launch of the Campaign for Stowe, and its immediate fundraising priorities. The Headmaster, Trustees and Campaign team have been delighted with the levels of interest and contribution that our Appeal has since attracted. We are truly grateful to the hundreds of Old Stoics, current and former parents and other friends of Stowe who have expressed keen interest, attended our Campaign Receptions, and seen a way to make their own donation – no matter how large or modest – towards our efforts. As the Summer term began, we had received cash donations and pledges of over £1.3 million since the start of the School year – well ahead of our expectations for the year. A considerable sense of momentum is now being generated in support of the Campaign and its fundraising targets. Thank you again to all those who have made their own personal contribution.

There are a number of projects that can now go ahead as a result of donations to the Campaign for Stowe. The creation of 6 new classrooms, to be opened in September this year, has been made possible through the substantial generosity of two particular donors. We should very soon hit the target for the second all-weather pitch, to be built on the Bourbon playing fields. It is pleasing also to know that another 10 classrooms will be fitted with interactive whiteboard technology over the coming months. There have been many donations too towards the future funding of Scholarships and Bursaries, as well as to the restoration of the State Library.

This latter project represents one of our most significant challenges. We very much hope that we will benefit from further funding from the Heritage Lottery Fund – such a generous donor to the first two phases of the restoration. Other pressures on Lottery resources are significant, however, and we cannot be sure of further, immediate support. Whatever may be the case, we will be working to identify further potential sources of help, to ensure that the essential restoration work can continue.

Despite the tremendous generosity of our donors, there is a very considerable job still to be done – both for the School and for the House. Stowe is a young School without a large endowment – pitifully small compared with many other schools – and we rely on the support of members of our own community to realise our ambitions. Please do get in touch with me if you would like to make your own contribution – I would be delighted to provide further guidance on how you might make a gift, and how it would provide a very tangible benefit.

We look forward to publishing our first annual report for the Campaign during the summer, in which we will announce further news of the projects that have been supported. In the meantime, thank you again to those many donors who, over the last 6 months, have so generously helped to make a difference to the future of Stowe.

Stowe Harvard Fellowship

Over the past 16 years, the Stowe Harvard Fellow has become an integral part of Stowe life. Through the Fellowship, every year a postgraduate of Harvard is selected to come to Stowe as a teacher, coach and counsellor.

At the Annual Dinner in May, we celebrated the close relationship between Stowe and Harvard with many friends from America including honoured guests from the Board of the American Friends of Stowe and the current Fellow, Kathleen McKee.

As offered for the first time last year, our guests and supporters could join an exciting programme of events around the Dinner. We were very fortunate to have as our guest speaker before the Dinner, Professor James Humes OBE, an eminent Englishman and a former parent who has made his home in America. James, who has been speechwriter to five American presidents provided us with a rare insight into life behind the scenes at the White House in a most entertaining and thought provoking address entitled ‘Confessions of a White House Ghostwriter’.

We were particularly delighted that this year, through Alexander Spencer-Churchill (Chatham '01), nephew of His Grace The Duke of Marlborough, an invitation was extended to visit Blenheim Palace – the birthplace of Sir Winston Churchill and seat of His Grace The Duke. Although May showers prevented our group from visiting the Formal Gardens, they enjoyed a special private tour through the State Rooms and were given exclusive use of ‘the Indian Room’ where they were delighted and honoured to be joined by His Grace The Duke of Marlborough.

The following day, at Stowe, our guests had a private viewing of the State Rooms including the Gothic Library. They also joined a lively debate with the upper sixth politics group where they discussed English perceptions of US politics. An atmospheric picnic was enjoyed at the Temple of Venus.

These celebrations are a proud demonstration of the ever-strengthening bond between Stowe and the United States.
